DESCRIPTION/SPECIFICATIONS/WORK STATEMENT

C.1 INTRODUCTION

This statement of work details the services the contractor shall provide the Light Armored Vehicle (LAV) Program Office in the execution of a UID Program that is compliant with DoD UID Policy for LAV components. The completion of the following three phases, when carried out, will result in a compliant UID program. The three phases are as follows:

1. Analysis and Documentation
2. Item Marking Approval (government approval)
3. Preparing for Parts Marking: Fly Parts Marking

C.2 Phase 1. Analysis and Documentation

C.2.1 The contractor shall provide facilitation for up to 225 components for PM-LAV, see Attachment 001 for the listing. Employing Reliability Centered Maintenance (RCM) principles, a Working Group of equipment experts, guided by a trained Force UID facilitator, utilizes the U2ID Selector software application to make and store parts marking decisions. This ensures that the people who are sensitive to the hazards of the equipment in its operating environment, as well as the technical approving authorities, participate in the decision making process. Furthermore, the software application is tailored specifically to each organizations needs. Analysis results will be forwarded to the LAV PMO in the form of raw data and/or reports generated from the U2ID Selector.

C.3 Phase 2. Item Marking Approval (government approval)

C.3.1 The Working Groups parts marking decisions are maintained within the U2ID Selector, which offers a robust audit trail. The U2ID Selector generates custom-designed reports used to compile a Validation Package which is presented to the approving authorities. TheForce, Inc. will provide up to ten hard copies of the Validation Package. The use of the U2ID Selector is on a rental basis only. All ownership rights of the U2ID Selector will remain in The Force, Inc.

C.4.1 Phase 3. Preparing for Parts Marking: Fly Parts Marking

C.4.1 Upon Validation Package approval, parts marking procedure data will be forwarded via xml, pdf, html, etc. to the appropriate party. The parts marking procedures will provide detailed marking instructions for each individual component to include a visual image.

This shall include a stand alone application built from the U2ID Selector that is an electronic interface with the parts marking station. Detailed marking instructions will be displayed for the parts marking machinist for each individual component as required. Also, the application would communicate directly with the parts marking software (e.g. I-GUIDES). This will provide a seamless, systematic marking process to minimize human interaction and to provide the most accurate and error free data possible.
